

Women's & Gender Studies Department Undergraduate Paper Prize for 2016-2017

The Women's & Gender Studies Department announces it is now accepting entries for its Marguerite Fisher Senior Undergraduate Paper Prize. The deadline is March 10, 2017. The award amount is $150.00.

Eligibility

Currently enrolled senior WGS major or minors at Syracuse University may submit papers written in any WGS courses during Spring 2016, Summer 2016, or Fall 2016.

Guidelines

1. Papers are to demonstrate scholarly competence in a subject matter relevant to women's and gender studies. Specifically, papers will be selected based on: general excellence; intersectional gender analysis or use of feminist theory; and interconnections between theory and activism.
2. Faculty may nominate students, or students may enter their own papers.
3. A detachable cover sheet indicating the entrant's name, the paper title, and the source of the paper (course title and professor). Also include local address, phone number and email.
4. Two copies of each paper—running header should only contain the paper title and page numbers (no personal identification).

Electronic submissions will be accepted, please send to sademock@syr.edu.

5. Authorship of papers may be individual or collaborative.
6. Paper may be no more than 15 pages in length.

Review Process

Papers are read and ranked (without author identification) by the paper prize committee, which is established by the Women's & Gender Studies Department faculty.

Please send entries NO LATER THAN March 10, 2017 to the Women's & Gender Studies Department Paper Prize Committee, 208 Bowne Hall. For further information please contact Susann DeMocker-Shedd at 443-3560 or sademock@syr.edu
